Our Story

From the heart of Mithila, where foxnuts are not merely grown but deeply respected as a cultural heritage, FoxNutWallah (FNW) was born.

For centuries, the wetlands of Mithila have produced foxnuts celebrated for their natural purity, light crunch, and nutritional richness. At FNW, we carry this legacy forward by sourcing foxnuts directly from their place of origin, preserving the authenticity that only tradition can deliver.

Every foxnut we select is handled with care and intention. By combining time-honoured Indian knowledge with modern, hygienic processing techniques, we ensure that the natural texture, taste, and nutrition remain intact—just as nature intended.

At FNW, quality is not an afterthought; it is a promise. We believe in honest sourcing, mindful processing, and consistency without compromise. No shortcuts. No unnecessary handling. Only foxnuts that meet our uncompromising standards make it through.
